PRIVILEGE:

——— Committee of Privileges appointed, 6.

——— Complaint having been made to the House by Sir Stafford Northcote, Member for North Devon, of expressions used in a Speech made by Mr. Bright, Member for Birmingham, at Birmingham, reported in the "Times" Newspaper of Friday, the 15th day of June 1883; the said Paper was delivered in, and the paragraph complained of read, as follows; "Now, the House of Commons at this moment, and it is the last point to which I will make reference, the House of Commons, in a portion of its Members, seems to me to be abandoning the character and conduct of gentlemen, as heretofore seen in that assembly. The party of which I have spoken, in not a few of its Members, appears willing to repudiate the authority of a majority of the Constituencies. They know that the majority believes as the Constituencies believe, and wishes to do for the Constituencies what the Constituencies demand, but they are determined, if it be possible, that the majority of the Constituencies shall fail in their efforts. And, what is worse at this moment, as you see (you do not so much see it here as it is seen in the House), they are found in alliance with an Irish rebel party, the main portion of whose funds, for the purposes of agitation, come directly from the avowed enemies of England, and whose oath of allegiance is broken by association with its enemies;" Motion, That the words complained of are a Breach of the Privilege of this House; Mr. Bright was heard in his place; and Mr. Speaker having reminded the Right honourable Gentleman that, in accordance with the Rules of the House, a Member whose conduct was under consideration should withdraw; Mr. Bright submitted that he had probably not heard all the charges which might be made against him; whereupon Sir Stafford Northcote suggested that the House might be willing, under the circumstances, not to require the withdrawal of the Right honourable Gentleman; Mr. Speaker accordingly took the pleasure of the House, which having been signified, Mr. Bright did not withdraw from the House; and Question, on Division, negatived, 280.
